

STEPHENSON TO BE CONFIRMED

La Follette It Is Not Thought Will Make Any Serious Objection When The Senate Convenes.

MAY START A FIGHT LATER THOUGH

His Followers At Madison Will Seek To Furnish Him With Material For His Fight Against Stephenson Keeping His Seat.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, March 11.—Despite the efforts of the anti-Stephenson forces to discredit the election of United States Senator-elect Isaac Stephenson, word has been received from Washington to the effect that his credentials will be accepted and he will be sworn in when the senate convenes on Monday next.

No Fight. It is also currently reported that Senator La Follette will make no direct attempt at this time to block this action but will wait for developments of the investigating committee in the hope that evidence of crookedness will be found that will give him the opportunity of demanding a senatorial investigation.

After La Follette. It is also rumored here that Senator Burrows of the United States senate committee on privileges and elections has assured Senator Stephenson that he will not only be seated, but that two years from now a national fight will take place to oust La Follette from politics entirely. This, however, is merely a rumor and is not substantiated by any dispatches or personal letters as far as can be learned.

Senators Busy. It is known that the anti-Stephenson clique of senators in the state legislature are busy and may attempt to force some sort of a separate investigation of Stephenson or that the present inquiry be continued until something definite can be discovered that they can furnish La Follette with weapons for his attack in the United States senate.

To Call Hatton.

The inquiry this morning decided to call W. H. Hatton, one of the defeated senatorial candidates to appear with all his books, letters, telegrams, checks and so forth pertaining to the campaign. The examination of State Game Warden Stone was resumed as to the disposition of the remainder of the $2100 he obtained for the Stone campaign.

The conference, executive committee recently voted to leave the matter with the Milton church. At a special meeting Sunday it was decided to hold the convention here. Dr. L. A. Platts, P. C. Dunn and Prof. A. E. Whitford were appointed a general committee to plan the work and appoint sub-committees. The session will be five days long, opening Wednesday and closing Monday, but the date has not been announced.

An Milton has no auditorium large enough it is probable that a huge tent will be erected for the meetings. Another tent or building will be required for dining purposes as all diners and supper for delegates will be served by the conference. Lodging and breakfast will be provided in private houses. Several hundred delegates and visitors from various parts of the country will be present. So many late-arrivals will be hanging out that visitors will not know which ones to pull.

RETAILING LIQUOR WITHOUT LICENSES?

Two Saloons on Milwaukee Street Reported to Have Changed Hands With the Securing of New Permits.

City Attorney H. L. Maxfield today called the attention of Chief Appleby to the fact that two saloons fronting on the main thoroughfare of the city have to all appearances been changed hands and are being operated without a transfer of license being authorized by the common council.

Several weeks ago E. T. Hoyle of Broadhead made application for permission to transfer the license for his bar at 220 West Milwaukee street to William Wells of Broadhead. The application was held over for further consideration on the grounds that the party to whom Mr. Hoyle wished to assign the license was a non-resident and unknown to the alderman. Nothing was done about the matter at the next meeting. Meanwhile the bar has been operated as a hotel and to all intents and purposes, so it is said, under Mr. Wells' direction.

The other saloon in question is the Open House bar at 120 East Milwaukee street, which was formerly conducted until about six weeks ago, by Isaac Hyman who came here from Lincoln. Hyman is reported to have sold out to William Hoskins of Rockford and the latter to have taken possession and continued the business without bothering about the formality of an authorized transfer of license.

OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT FOR "PURE VERMONT"

Ideal Sugar Weather Is Prevailing and Maple Groves Wear Promising Look.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Rutland, Vt., March 11.—Many trees have been tapped this week by the maple sugar makers of southern Vermont. A good year is predicted. Freezing nights and warmth in the middle of the day are the conditions desired to make a good run of sap. A deep body of snow will produce this alternation, when thawing thus, sap runs. There has been no large amount of snow on the hills this year, but there has been an unusual amount of ice, which tends, like a heavy snow coating, to cool the ground at night and produce the desired conditions for good sugar weather.

WIRZ MONUMENT WAR IN GEORGIA

Fair Daughters of the Confederacy in Bitter Strife Over Location of the Marble Memorial.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Atlanta, Ga., March 11.—In solid phalanx and fighting mood the fair representatives of the Georgia division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy moved upon Atlanta today, determined to win in the Wirz monument fight or know the reason why. In life Captain Henry Wirz, who was the commander of the Andersonville prison and for whom it is claimed he lost his life in the defense of the Confederate president, Jefferson Davis, was the subject of a bitter and dangerous controversy between the North and the South. In death he is again the subject of a controversy, and a bitter one, too, among the rival Southern cities contending for the monument to be erected in his memory.

At the Georgia convention of the Daughters of the Confederacy in Savannah last fall, after the partisan fight of cities had made it impossible for Andersonville, which place was most closely connected with Captain Wirz's life and career, to be selected for his monument, Savannah delegates led a fight in favor of Richmond, and by a very close vote the old capital of the Confederacy was selected.

But the decision was not satisfactory to the Georgia cities, particularly to Macon, which had been the first to suggest the monument project. So great was the storm of protest aroused by the action of the Savannah convention that the press of the city felt obliged to call an extra convention to again take up the matter.

The extra convention assembled in this city today with all signs pointing to a lively and spirited contest. It seems very probable that those who voted for Richmond will, if Richmond is put out of the running, fight for Andersonville, though America and Macon are both strong contenders. Meanwhile the monument is in a stone yard at Americus, where it was made, awaiting the final decision.

JABEZ WHITE TO MEET WILY GANS

English Lightweight and Colored Champion Matched in Ten Round Bout at New York Tomorrow.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, March 11.—The ten-round bout between former champion Joe Gans and Jabez White, the English lightweight champion, which is scheduled for the arena of the Nassau Coliseum at 8 o'clock tonight, is creating quite a stir in sporting circles. It will be the first real battle in which Gans has engaged since battling Noll. He gave him his Waterloo. It has been said that White's first appearance in the ring in several years, Gans has every confidence in the fight will be not so strictly on the level. Admitting that the dusky fighter from Baltimore has been mixed up in numerous "queer" fights in the past, the critics cannot see where he would have anything to gain by "knocking" the contest while Gans has every confidence in the English man. Should he win it will restore some of his lost prestige, while a defeat would result in his being shelved for good and all. At ten rounds he should be able to easily dispose of White, who at his best was but a second-rate champion.

COMMITTEE MADE ONE DISCOVERY

FIRST REAL DEFINITE DISCLOSURE OF USE OF CAMPAIGN MONEY.

GAME WARDEN'S TESTIMONY

Talks of the Manner in Which He Expended the Funds Left in His Charge.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., March 11.—Something definite at last has been accomplished by the legislative committee which is probing the methods used by the various senatorial candidates at the last primary. Late yesterday afternoon, after holding out as long as possible, State Game Warden J. W. Stone testified that he paid large sums of money received from the Stephenson to two of his deputy wardens—H. A. Bowman, who received $500, and Fred Gebhardt, who was given $200, to "spend as they saw fit."

Deputy game wardens are under civil service, and for that reason political activity on the part of civil service employees is regarded by the civil service commission as sufficient justification for dismissal from the service. It also has been regarded as reprehensible, if not a violation of the corrupt practice act, for candidates for office to solicit and use the support of civil service employees.

In this connection there will be offered in evidence soon a copy of the pamphlet which was issued last year, just before the primary campaign began, by the civil service commission, a copy of which was mailed to every employee under the classified service, from lowest to highest in point of rank and salary. The commission indicated plainly that the civil service law applies to deputy game wardens, and pointed out that they must refrain from political activity of all kinds, except their constitutional right to vote and express their individual opinions.

The testimony of Game Warden Stone yesterday was given after he had consulted his attorney, and in connection with this testimony, he remarked that he did not "know" that deputy game wardens were under civil service. The investigating committee has already secured from the secretary of state certified copies of the expense vouchers of deputy game wardens for the months of July and August, which immediately preceded the primary, and it is believed to be the purpose of the investigators, unless stopped by the legislature because it is not strictly within their jurisdiction, to delve deep into these accounts and connect them, if possible, with their activities in behalf of senatorial candidates.

INDICTMENTS FOR TEXAS DEPUTIES

Grand Jury at San Antonio Returns True Bills for Perjury Against Mussey and Nipper.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] San Antonio, Texas, March 11.—It is doubtful whether any grand jury indictment in many years has caused so much interest as the one returned by the indignant body of this county charging Deputy Sheriffs W. H. Mussey and J. D. Nipper with perjury, and the case will be one of the hard-fought in the history of Texas jurisprudence. It is attracting widespread attention because of the prominence of all parties concerned.

The cases of alleged perjury grew simultaneously out of another interesting and important case—that of the former Chief of Police Will H. Irvin of this city charging that he killed Edmond Gabriel a negro. One of the deputy sheriffs indicted Nipper is a relative of the former police chief. Irvin does not deny having killed the negro, but claims to have shot him in self-defense. There were no eye witnesses to the tragedy, which occurred in a yard in which a moveable house was being worked. No home where Gabriel worked. A weapon was found on the body of the dead man when bystanders reached him within a few moments after the shooting, nor was there any trace of a weapon to be found in the vicinity of the tragedy. Fifteen hours after wards, Deputy Sheriff Nipper and Mussey, so they testified on oath later, found a pistol belonging to Gabriel, saying they had discovered the weapon in a chicken house about twenty-five feet from where the negro fell when shot.

Their testimony was given at the preliminary trial of former Chief Irvin, at which time Judge Dwyer of the Thirty-seventh District court held the indictment in full of $10,000 and, upon motion of the state, granted a change of venue to another county. When Sheriff Lindsay was placed on the stand at the preliminary hearing, he testified that several hours after the shooting he instructed his deputies not to make any further investigation. When Mussey and Nipper testified they swore that on the day following the shooting they were in the neighborhood of the tragedy serving subpoenas, and "dropped in" to look over the scene. Mussey testified that he found a pistol in a little outhouse and his testimony was corroborated by Nipper. The two deputies called the attention of Irvin to the fact that they had found the pistol. Morris testified at the Irvin's coroner's hearing that he had been in the outhouse before the two deputies, and that he had seen nothing of a revolver.

TELEPHONE BILLS WERE DISCUSSED

IS THE BUSINESS A PUBLIC UTILITY OR NOT?

AN INTERESTING HEARING

The Clearly Bill Is Somewhat Drastic in Many of Its Details—Prominent Phone Men Present.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., March 11.—"Is or is not the telephone business a public utility?" was the burden of the question argued at a joint hearing of the transportation committee yesterday afternoon on M. J. Cleary's bill 240A. Arguments of two and four years ago were advanced to show that the business of maintaining telephone communication was as much a public utility as the furnishing of light, heat, power and means of traveling from one city to another.

The Cleary bill, one of the most important introduced into the lower house at this session, provides for the placing of the telephone business under the jurisdiction of the Wisconsin railway rate commission, along with the railways and light companies. Under this bill, companies furnishing satisfactory service in a community would be protected from competition just as trolley lines and lighting companies are protected from competitors. Two years ago the telephone companies came near being placed under the commission, with the railways, but there was strong opposition by certain independent interests and the transmission and receivers remained in a class of their own.

Speaker L. H. Bancroft of Richland Center was one of the speakers at yesterday's meeting. He made a strong argument for the passage of the bill, saying it would improve the service in certain communities and would "keep wild-cat companies from encroaching upon the rights of investment."

"This bill is passed," said the speaker, "the organized companies in hundreds of communities will be enabled to live up to scientific principles of telephony. They will be aided in their efforts to give good service. Expense of competition will be cut down and the established corporations will be able to make the best of their systems. Right here I want to speak of the atrocious service given in some sections of the state, by small independent lines that should not be permitted to exist. I know of one community where twenty or forty phones are connected to a single line and the result is a constant howling and hissing, and nothing can be heard. This condition should not be permitted. Now take the Wisconsin Telephone company for instance. It permits not more than eight phones on a party line. That is a reasonable limit. I urge that this committee, besides passing this bill, devise a measure by which the number of phones on a party line could be limited."

Mr. Bancroft spoke at length on the theory of public utilities and went somewhat into the history of the principle that brought out the principle that there should be no competition in public utilities. He reported the arguments that this sort of competition results in additional cost to the citizen and pointed out specific instances where the entry of new telephone companies had resulted in great loss to stockholders of both companies and extra burden on subscribers.

Several representatives of companies which connect with the toll lines of the Wisconsin Telephone company were heard by the committee and all of them urged the passage of the bill. They said that under the present working with the Bell company the service throughout the state was improving and that the tremendous amount of capital now invested in these companies should be protected. It came out at the hearing that more than four hundred independent telephone companies in Wisconsin operated their systems in connection with the Bell company and that the work of the Bell company and the smaller ones worked together in perfect harmony.

Assemblyman Edward W. Lefroy of Marinette acted as chairman of the meeting and more than two score of the legislators attended in addition to about a hundred men from all parts of the state who are interested in various telephone companies. H. D. Critchfield, who organized an independent company in Milwaukee which has not yet constructed a system, was present at the meeting, as was also Alonzo Hurt, president of the Bell company in Wisconsin.

WOMEN'S CLUBS HAD CHARGE OF PROGRAM

Head of Federation of Clubs in Beloit Presided at Banquet of Six o'Clock Club.

Beloit, Wis., March 11.—The most successful and enjoyable banquet ever given by the Six o'Clock club of the Beloit and the first ever which the Beloit Federation of Women's Clubs presided, was enjoyed in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church last night by over two hundred guests. The long tables were prettily adorned with silver candelabra and a splendid three-course banquet was served. The program which followed was very delightful. Mrs. R. C. Murdoch, president of the Beloit federation, presided and after a few introductory remarks, she called upon Mrs. Edward Salmon, who responded with a talk upon "Our Federation Work." She reviewed the work of the Beloit federation ever since its organization fifteen years ago when it began its career with only thirteen members. The present free public library of Beloit is the notable example of their first effort.

Mrs. E. L. Philhower was the second speaker. Her address was upon "The Improvement of the City." She was filled with suggestions for the improvement of Beloit in many ways. Among them she suggested that the city park be transformed into a more attractive spot by the addition of flower beds and fountains. She remarked that it would add greatly to the general appearance if the "flaming billboards" were taken down and she also thought that the installation of a curfew bell in Beloit would aid the police department greatly in keeping children off the streets at night.

Mrs. L. E. Stearns of Madison, an officer on the state library board, was the last speaker of the evening. She has been interested in library work for the past twenty years and gave a very elaborate review of the work done in this line in connection with establishing new libraries and the good done by them. She said that from one to three free libraries were being established each week in the state and that since Beloit, which was the second city in Wisconsin to do so, had secured a public library, over 125 free libraries had been established and about 600 traveling libraries.

She spoke also to some extent of the work being done among the children in connection with the libraries and commended the ladies' clubs for the great assistance they had given in this direction.

The president announced last night that the Beloit federation intended installing manual training and domestic art in the Beloit public schools next fall.

As this was the last banquet of this season the treasurer's report of the Six o'Clock club was given. The committee appointed to arrange a program for next year is as follows: Prof. R. B. Way, chairman, Roy Brockwell, Lee Burr, Dr. E. C. Helm and Charles Warner.

MONROE HAS LARGE DAIRYMEN'S MEETING

Session of Dairymen and Cheesemakers Has Attendance of Four Hundred.

Monroe, Wis., March 11.—The Southern Wisconsin Cheesemakers' and Dairymen's association met here today for the ninth annual session with an enrollment close onto four hundred members, which makes it the largest dairy association in the world. Dealers and factorymen from all parts of the district are in attendance and farmers of the locality are in evidence to a greater extent than formerly. The meeting continues through tomorrow.

President R. J. Stauffer, in delivering his annual address, gave an encouraging review of the situation, which suffered because of the financial panic. Much old cheese remained in storage but prices for the new product have been steadily advancing until they are again tempting to the producer. Factories are making milk contracts at a dollar and better, which is higher than has ever been known in the history of the industry in this section. He told the association that his members in reaching out for great returns must not lose sight of the fact that quality must outrank quantity in order to keep the industry on a paying basis.

The buying of cheese over shelf has characterized as one of the great evils which must be overcome. The practice lowers the efficiency of cheesemakers, is a detriment to farmers and an injury to business amounting to a loss of thousands of dollars. The producer of the best product should have higher prices than is paid for cheese of medium quality.

The association in its efforts to benefit the industry by providing instructions at state expense has saved many dollars to the dairy industry. The association has an allowance of $1,000 and the local covered has 475 factories, making the allowance inadequate. The association was urged to use its influence to get this appropriation doubled. The loss sustained in the district every year on account of lack of knowledge of the dairy men in the farm and in the cheese factory is claimed to far exceed the loss by tornado, fire and water.

Attention was called to the work of the association in the direction of securing a county school of agriculture for the benefit of the counties interested in foreign cheesemaking. The county board appointed a committee to look into the matter and a bill providing for the establishment of the school will be introduced at the present session of the legislature.

A canvass of the farmers shows that they realize all the way from $7 to $70 net profit per cow with the advantage in favor of the farmers who make a study of the business. He declared that the development of the business is retarded because of the fact the people have for each other and that by laying aside prejudice and fear and pulling together much more can be accomplished. What the district needs, he said, is the concentration of energy, effort and intelligence of farmers, cheesemakers and cheese dealers of the section.

The association was welcomed by Mayor W. J. Knight, of this city, and an address in response was made by John Thellor, of New Glarus. After reading the reports of officers and the appointment of committees the morning session adjourned.

"Advances in Winter Milking" will be the subject of a paper in German by John Wuehl, of this city, this afternoon. Prof. D. A. Oles, of Madison, will discuss the feeding of the dairy cow on balanced ration, mostly corn and alfalfa. "Swiss Cheesemaking" will be a topic by Alex. Schaller, of Barneveld, Dairy and Food Inspector Fred Murty will explain dairy law. Music is furnished at the sessions by the Badger Girls' orchestra.

There will be a session this evening and tomorrow morning and afternoon. Many transportation and supply men are here for the convention.

Kreuger wrote his mother assuring her that he was safe and secure from all harm and that it was not going as hard as he thought. He said he was young, would outlive it and be a better man. Prefer Cash to Checks.

The bank check has taken small hold as yet upon the citizens of Mexico, especially when amounts of less than $1,000 are concerned. They consider it much easier to pay out cash than to give a check for amounts of $50 and $100 and maintain with some amount of reason that a business deal can be put through with better advantage when the cash is in sight.

HARRIMAN AND GOELET FOR- TUNES MAY BE UNITED. IT IS RUMORED THAT MISS HARRIMAN IS TO BE ENGAGED TO ROBERT GOELET.

San Antonio, Texas.—San Antonio society folk are deeply interested in the doings of Miss Mary Harriman and Robert Goelet, who have been much thrown together since Mr. Harriman left New York for his southern trip. It is generally believed that their engagement will be announced shortly after their return to New York.

Both Mr. Goelet and Miss Harriman admit that they are very, very dear friends. Nothing has been very strenuous in making and dealing out rumors.

Mr. Harriman is of the opinion that it is none of the public's business even if his daughter is engaged. Other members of the party are, however, feeling the belief that an engagement exists and that Mr. Goelet will before long become an important figure in the Harriman railroad properties. Goelet has been made a director of the Illinois Central and it is understood that when the railway is placed under the management of other lines.

FOOLED BY A NAME

"These soft, syrupy names for towns," began a traveling man as he bit off the end of his perfecto savagely, "never any more of 'em for mine." "I've got to know after this all about a town, just what size map it breaks in on, and some more things before I'll fall for its purty name. There may be a lot of good towns with myatie, euphonious names that you'd rather have in your mouth than a bite of chocolate, but they don't get my money. Nope! Nix! Hue uhl! I've got to know more'n just the name after this."

"Here's what I'm getting at," says the reminiscient drummer. "Something made me think just now of my trip down through Florida—somebody spoke of taking a run down to Miami, and reminded me of it—and I recalled my little stay at Zolfo Springs."

"Now, just take that name Zolfo Springs and roll your tongue around it once or twice. Pretty good, isn't it? Doesn't it just sort of conjure up pipe dreamy effects of broad hotel piazzas and fluffy, chiffony, pink-cheeked southern belles floating around, and neat little tables here and there with mint juleps and saltz butter and things on 'em? Ain't that the sort of truck that fits right into your mind the minute you say 'Zolfo Springs'?"

"Can't you look out through the palm trees and see the crimson sunset on the job? You can feel the balmy Florida breezes on your cheek, can't you—and hear the tinkle of the mandolins and—well, you know? Doesn't that 'Zolfo Springs' name just bring up all that eyaristo stuff, though?"

"Well, it was about this time of year I was in Florida, and I had to run down to Fort Meyers and some other towns down in there for a day or two. I can't tell now just where it was I heard the name, but I woke up one morning with 'Zolfo Springs' rubbing and beating against my tympanum. It struck me that it would be better to stop off some place like that than to try to make the run down to Fort Meyers over night. 'I'll just stop off at the springs,' I says to myself, 'until morning and then jump on down to Fort Meyers.' And so I did."

"On the way down the conductor came up and asked me: 'Are you sure you want to get off at Zolfo Springs?'" "Certainly," I told him. But I did not get "wise." Within half a mile of the springs he came along again and asked me if I wanted to get off there, and if I was acquainted with any one at that point. I told him I was, just to keep him quiet."

"After the train had gone on I looked around to see where they'd left me. There was a little shed of a station and that was all, except about three feet of sand everywhere you stopped. I looked around for a wagon to take me to the hotel, but there was none. There wasn't a human being or a house in sight. It was getting dark, too. I started up the road and after I'd walked about two miles, carrying my grip, through the sand, I came upon a colored man. "Where's the hotel?" I asked him. "Ain't none," he says."

"He volunteered, though, to take me up to Cay'n Smith's house to see if I could get lodging there for the night, as that was the only house within walking distance. We arrived at the captain's place, an old shack, at 11 o'clock. It took me about 20 minutes to talk him into keeping me over night, and then he had to go back to talk it over with 'the old woman.' Finally he said he would move 'Sis' over into their room and give me her bed."

"Next morning when I got up I found that 'Sis' was an idiot about 18 years old, and 'pa' and 'ma' lanky Florida 'crackers,' who were continually rubbing snuff. They ate off a table consisting of pine boards laid on boxes. There were 'greens' soaked in grease, 'chicory' instead of coffee and some lousy biscuits. Of course I couldn't eat anything. And I could not get a train out of the place until night. I was just about all in when I got down to Arcadia, 20 miles south, that night!"

"Ah, no more of those pretty names for me!"

"That Awful Gift of Imagination."

If you wish to pray against a burden of temptation, pray against that awful gift (for it is a purely involuntary gift) of imagination which alternately flatters and torments its possessor—flatters him by making him fancy that he possesses the virtues which he can imagine in others; torments him, because it makes him feel in himself a capacity for every imaginable form of vice. Yet if it be a gift of God's (and it cannot be a gift of the devil's) it must bring some good, and perhaps the good is the capacity for sympathy with blackguards, "publicans and sinners." To see into the inner life of those; to know their disease, not from books, but from inward and scientific anatomy, imagination may help a man. If it does that for me I shall not regret it; though it is, selfishly speaking, the most humiliating and tormenting of all talents.—Charles Kingsley.

LIGHT WITHOUT GLARE

A New System of Electric Illumination of the Interior.

The indirect illumination of offices and workshops by an inverted arc lamp with the reflector below having been found to be very satisfactory, the system is now being applied to household illumination. The new tungsten lamps are particularly suitable for this character of illumination, and a Western firm has designed a number of fixtures for this purpose of a style of decoration suitable for household use. As viewed from below the lamp itself is entirely hidden, the reflector taking the shape of a bowl, in which the lamp is placed. The rays of light are sent upwards and, being reflected, produce a very effective and pleasant light, which is thoroughly diffused. It is essential that the suit existing should be of light color where this style of illumination is adopted.

NEW MESSAGE TOOL

Ingenious Vibrator Substitute for Electric Machine.

Massages of modest means need no longer be done at the cost of expensive electric machines for a man in Ohio has devised a vibrator that answers all ordinary purposes and has the advantage of being always "charged" and easily portable. The device consists of a casing containing a train of intermeshed gears, which latter is operated by a crank shaft projecting outside the casing. At one end of the instrument is a handle and the other end is of conical shape, fitted to receive a spherical member of some hard material which will vibrate to the operation of the gearing. On the end of the handle a soft spherical member is placed in contact with the face or body of the subject and the crank is turned the vibrations of the hard ball are communicated to the soft one in such a way as to make the latter beat a tattoo and produce an effect very similar to that of an electric vibrator.

AUTOMATIC ELEVATOR

Controlled by Electric Buttons Placed Against Doorway on Each Floor.

Users of hand-power dumb-waiters and small elevators realize the many inconveniences of operation. They invariably become wedged in the passageway when most needed. To stimulate the troubles encountered in such devices a Chicago inventor has designed the automatic elevator shown here. The method of operation will be readily apparent by glancing at the illustration. Mounted on every floor is a button switch which operates a small lamp and a special lock. By pressing any button the car is brought to that particular floor, locking all other buttons and at the same time indicating by the lamp in the floor that the car is in use. If a door is left open, the car will not start until it is closed, thereby preventing accidents. Where it is not desirable to employ a regular attendant for the household elevator, this automatic arrangement should prove very serviceable.

NOVEL BREAD KNIFE

Slices Places Off Loaf With Rapidity and Precision.

Kitchen and restaurants will find a great convenience in the breadknife which a North Dakota man has invented. It will do the work of cutting bread much more rapidly than it can be done by hand, no matter what the manual dexterity of the operator, and with greater precision. The device consists of a trough, open at the ends and with a projection on the front panel by which the trough can be clamped to the edge of a table. A present-shaped knife, working on a pivot, is attached to the front panel at one end and operates in an arc whose radius is the interior of the trough. The loaf of bread is laid in the trough and as it is pushed along toward the edge of the knife, which works by a handle, rises and falls, slicing off pieces of bread as neatly as anyone could wish. As the pieces are cut they fall out of the trough to the table or into a basket or box stationed at the end to receive them. This device can be used for cutting other things, too.

Daily Thought.

The human heart concerns us more than poring into microscopes, and is larger than can be measured by the pompous figures of the astronomer.—Emerson.

Cheerfulness Means Health.

Cheerfulness is the best promoter of health. Repinings and murmurings of the heart give imperceptible strokes to those delicate fibers of which the vital parts are composed and wear out the machine.—Bovee.

I Have a Method of Removing Cancers

without the use of a knife, X-Ray or losing one drop of blood. If you care to call I will show you what I have accomplished in the cure of cancer during the nineteen years of my practice in Janesville. I'll furnish you with the very best of reference as to my personal character and financial stability. Read the following letter clipped from 'The Dodgeville (Wis.) Sun-Republic':

"Here's John's cancer," exhibiting a bottle, were the words Superintendent Perkins greeted the writer with, Wednesday morning. He referred to John Conway, who had returned from Janesville the previous day. The doctor's treatment consisted of the application of plaster and did not cause the patient any pain or loss of sleep. The cancer had been bothering Conway for several months. It was about three inches long, one inch wide and one-half an inch thick. It caused the lip to hang down and was the source of much pain and discomfort. The wound caused by the loss of the cancer is healing rapidly and in a couple of weeks the lip will resume its original shape and appearance, with no disfigurement of any kind. Dr. Webster is a practicing physician at Janesville, Wis., where he has been located for several years. His wonderful cures of external cancers have not been advertised in any other way except by the many patients whom he has cured, and many business men in that city were not aware of his success in such cases.

This merely cites one of the many cures I have effected in the past nineteen years. During the treatment there is no pain or soreness, no cutting. You can attend to your daily work without interference. I treat external cancers only. Write for a circular. Consultation free.

So that it will satisfy the most particular smoker, does not mean merely throwing a few different kinds of tobaccos together and binding them with a wrapper and calling it a blended cigar.

It means years of hard labor and experiment. We have in the NEW GARMUR a blend that cannot be beat. It is blended in three different grades—mild, medium and strong, one for every taste. ## AMERICAN FENCE

What makes a good fence? Should it have wire hard as flint made with the highest carbon the same as the makers of American fence put into its piano wire? Or should it be a soft wire such as they put into their weaving wire that is sold to manufacturers of wire cloth? Neither—it should be a medium wire that many years' experience has shown to be exactly right for the purpose. The American Steel & Wire Co. makes every kind of wire that is used, beginning with its own mines, through its own furnaces and steel and wire mills and they know what is the right kind of steel to use for a fence. Trust their judgment.

Should a good fence have a rigid stay? No—we believe in the hinged joint that is strong, flexible, yielding to pressure like a spring bed and snapping back again to its place. Flexibility is its life. A pneumatic tire on a bicycle is more durable than a solid tire for this reason. American fence is made of large wires thoroughly galvanized and proof against weather.

THE NEW TARIFF BILL

When the new congress meets in special session next week the tariff bill which has been prepared by the committee on ways and means of the 60th congress will be introduced as promptly as possible. This bill has been under preparation for the last nine months. Exports were put to work by the ways and means committee as long ago as that to collect data for use in framing the measure. The public hearings arranged by Chairman Payne began early in November and lasted about five weeks. Then the republican members of the committee went to work in daily sessions to construct the new tariff bill. The measure has just been sent to the printers.

There is reason to hope that the new tariff bill as it comes from the ways and means committee will be so framed as to give relief to industries now handicapped by the heavy duties levied upon raw materials and also to the general public, which has to pay high prices resulting from abnormal tariff rates. Further, it is cheerfully asserted that the new bill, if it becomes a law as it stands, by stimulating imports and generally benefiting trade and industry, will materially increase the country's revenues from custom-house receipts, though hides are on the free list and large cuts are made in the rates on steel and steel products, upon lumber and other commodities. The report that a tax of 4 cents a pound on coffee is included in the bill may cheer the advocates of a tariff for revenue only, but it should bring protests from the general public, which is not fond of taxes levied unnecessarily on articles of everyday use in the household.

If there is to be a tax on bank checks, telegrams, playing cards and stock sales, as is now expected, the citizens will have a taste of what is likely to come in time in the way of many and ingenious internal taxes if the national expenses go on expanding as they have done in recent years. With intricate forms of taxation continually at the citizen's elbow, he is likely to take a keener interest in public questions than he has taken heretofore. Thus the levying of new internal taxes in times of peace, however, annoying they may be, will have redeeming features.

The public must hope the republican members of the committee on ways and means have done their work so well that the bill they have brought into existence can be perfected and passed by the new congress within a very few weeks. Business concerns very generally will slow down their operations to await the outcome of the revision of tariff rates.

MORALITY, EQUITY AND THE INCOME TAX

"The fairest kind of tax is that imposed upon property which cannot be concealed and whose value can be determined without the assistance of the owner. The owners of such property can be made to pay in proportion to their holdings. When direct taxes are laid on property of this sort, there is no rankling sense of injustice in the breast of each taxpayer, arising from a conviction that his neighbor is dodging, and thereby making the taxes of those who pay honorably larger than they should be," says the Evening Wisconsin.

"In the face of undoubted facts, how unstatesmanlike it is to propose the raising of revenue in Wisconsin by means of an income tax! How obvious it is that the returns of their incomes which citizens would make for the purpose of assessment of taxes would be remote from the truth! Gladstone averred that the imposition of an income tax in Great Britain had made that country a nation of liars. Is it well that a system which has this effect should be set up in Wisconsin? An income tax puts a premium on dishonesty. It is a system which makes truthful men pay for their truthfulness, and which, whatever its intention, encourages deceit. In theory equitable, in practice it has been found, wherever it has been established, the most unfair method of levying taxes ever devised. "And what is the remedy which advocates of the income tax suggest to offset the practically universal tendency to evade it? The remedy is a particularly embarrassing, offensive and exasperating form of espionage, by which official spies are hired to poke into the business of individuals. Do the people of Wisconsin want to be dogged by official spies? Will official spies always conduct their prying impersonally and with sole regard to the public good, and never succumb to the strong temptation to turn their opportunities detestably to their own advantage? Wage-earners and people on salaries are likely to be easy and helpless victims of the income tax system if ever it is adopted in this state. They are its victims wherever the system prevails, because their incomes, to the last penny are easy to ascertain. Farmers also will be in the victim class. Speculators and all others whose profits fluctuate and proceed from sources not obvious will have an advantage when it comes to hoodwinking, standing off or compromising with the assessor. Many men least able to pay will be made to pay more than they should, while many well able to pay will find means to evade a large part if not the whole of their obligations under the law.

"Does Wisconsin want to place upon its statute books a measure so fraught as this with moral and material mischief? Let the representatives of the people at Madison view this important issue from the standpoint of practical common sense. Let them be governed by what they know of human nature and by a high ambition to elevate and not depress the standards of morality and equity in Wisconsin."

DON'T SCOLD YOUR BOY.

"Toll the mothers not to scold their boys. Never in my life did I say 'don't' to my children. They were ruled by love and never disappointed me."

That is an extract from a grand old woman to the writer.

Why scold the boy? To be sure, he is noisy and sometimes very much in the way. He comes into the house like a whirlwind, throws his cap, maybe, in one corner and his books in another.

Possibly he sprawls at his meals and slyly kicks his brother's shins under the table, makes faces at his sister, teases the house cat and is everlastingly in evidence—save when he is asleep.

But the boy is built for noise. He is bursting with vitality and must have an escape valve. He is in the process of making himself fit to go up against big obstacles. Out in the world he will need every pound of that surplus vitality.

Don't scold him for what he can't help.

A noisy, mischievous, forgetful lad is not necessarily a bad boy. Indeed, he is likely to be a better boy at heart than your quiet, self-centered boy.

But if you scold the noisy youth you stir up the bad that is in him. It is easy to nag a good natured, hearty boy into sharp retort and rebellion.

There's an easier, better way. The boy's heart is as tender inside as his manner is rough on the outside. He does not wear his heart on his sleeve—this kind of boy. But he is not callous. His father, maybe, cannot get into touch with him because his way is the boy's way—rough on the outside.

But you may be sure that under the boy's vest is a big love for his mother. The mother has a great advantage. And she should be as careful in handling her boy as she was careful in handling his father in the old courtship days. The boy's mother should be his sweetheart. She should treat him as she treats her lover.

The mother forgives. She is tired or has a headache. The boy jangles her nerves. She flares up at him. She rumples him. His quick temper flies up in self defense. It is soon over. The boy loves his mother just the same. But the whole episode is a miserable failure.

Punish the boy, of course, when necessary, but do not make yourself and him miserable by nagging him and scolding him.

Remember, he will not be your boy very long. He will soon be a bearded man. And you will hold out your arms in vain.

EVELYN VIOLET BROCKNERBANK

GEORGE WESTINGHOUSE, JR.

ENGLISH HEIRESS TO MARRY GEORGE WESTINGHOUSE.

London, Eng.—Active preparations are being made for the Westinghouse-Brocknerbank wedding, which is to take place soon. The romance of this wedding is most interesting. While Miss Evelyn Brocknerbank was visiting in Mr. Westinghouse's home city she journeyed to the Westinghouse electrical establishment and was there attracted through the plant, by an attractive young man in overalls, whom she afterward met in a social way and recognized as George Westinghouse, the son of the originator of the Westinghouse electrical factories.

The romance developed rapidly, and the happy pair were soon engaged, but owing to Mr. Westinghouse's determination to make his own fortune before marrying, the wedding was put off until the present time.

Mr. Westinghouse last month journeyed to England and is spending some of the happiest days of his life in the promiscuous society affairs attendant to the wedding.

Effect of Soil on Grape.

In the Medoc country of France—famed for its red wine—the growers exercise the most scrupulous care in the selection and application of fertilizers. They understand that, while the vine is hardy, it is exceedingly sensitive and that the quality of the fruit may be injured by a very slight change in the soil.

Life.

One must accept life as it is. It gives us great happiness if we are wise enough to see it, and it balances the scales by sending great sorrows, too. But that is life. If you would make the world brighter, try to forget your hurts, dry your eyes, and turn to help those who need the pressure of a friendly hand, the encouragement of a smiling look. Sorrows and trouble of all kinds should teach one a great lesson—the lesson of universal kindness.—Home Chat.

Many in a Minute.

In some of the big Swiss lace manufacturing there is a new machine which threads 1,000 needles a minute, ties the knot for each, cuts the thread off at a uniform length and then carries the needle along and attacks it into a cushion ready for use.—Home Notes.

6% Bonds

Safe Beyond Question.

These bonds are secured by First Mortgage on 30,000 Water Horse Power, Mills, Power Houses and other assets having a total valuation of over $3,000,000.

The bonds are payable serially, in accordance with our usual plan.

The bonds are issued at the very conservative rate of $100 per Horse Power developed, exclusive of Mills and other assets, and are guaranteed by a strong corporation having a long and successful history, large assets, and an established income.

A well located Water Power is a perpetual income-producing asset. This particular Water Power is one of the most efficient, economic and valuable to be found on the North American Continent.

We strongly recommend these bonds to conservative investors who want an assured income of six percent for any period of time from five to twenty years, at their option.

ARE POOR ROADS THE REAL CAUSE?

OF DRIVING FARMERS OUT OF ROCK COUNTY.

A. C. POWERS SAYS SO

Tells Institute at Affon That This is the Reason So Many Farmers Move to Cities.

At the farmers' institute at Affon, A. C. Powers made the following significant remarks to the assembled meeting:

"There can be no question but that the deplorable condition of our roads is a large extent responsible for the dissatisfaction with country life, which has driven so many of our best people into the towns and cities, a loss that the country can ill afford."

"His address was a good one and right to the point in this present-day discussion of good roads. He said in part as follows:

"The subject—Federal Appropriation for the Construction of Public Highways—is nearly or quite as old as the government itself, but for nearly a century it has been held in abeyance, and our energies have been directed in other channels, mainly in the building of the greatest railway system under the sun, until today we have nearly 225,000 miles in operation, gridironing the continent with a network of steel, belching every other nation on the globe, both in number of miles and completeness of equipment. To this, millions of acres of our public lands have been given to aid in their construction, augmented by millions of dollars raised by the people in the country through which they run. In many cases these donations have exceeded by far the building and equipment of the roads. All this to become a source of revenue to some corporation, without the return of one penny in compensation for either the land or the money advanced them."

Farmer Pays Much

"Not only has the farmer been compelled to bear the burden of road construction, but he has paid out a larger amount in donations and expenditures, toward railroad building, in proportion to his wealth than any other class."

"From a monetary point of view, it is true that all industrial interests are very heavily affected by the conditions of the roads over which the products of our farms are transported to market, but from a social and economic status, it is the farmer who suffers most from the inferior roads, and it is to the farmer that we must look to take the initiative, the active force and influence that will secure the enactment of the legislation needed to bring about that improvement in road conditions that we should all desire."

"It is estimated by competent authorities that over the country road the farmer drives at an average cost of $2, and it has been further shown that with improved roads the cost of moving the same load would be but little more than $1."

"Under a general system of improved roads, the cost of hauling these 300,000,000 tons would be cut twice in two, thus effecting a direct saving to the country of very nearly $300,000,000 annually. Nor is this the only saving that would be effected through improved roads."

"There can be no question but that the deplorable condition of our roads is to a large extent responsible for the dissatisfaction with country life, which has driven so many of our best people into the towns and cities, a loss that the country can ill afford."

Farmer is Conservative.

"It is true that as a whole the farmer is naturally conservative, and has not taken up the subject of better roads as quickly perhaps, as the residents of towns and cities would act in a manner so vitally affecting their interest, but I believe that they are as a whole fast awakening to the importance of this subject, and ready to do all in their power to further the work of road improvement. I am constrained to this thought for the reason that they have so generally availed themselves of our county option road law, and also from the fact that the majority rolled up last fall in favor of the constitutional amendment providing state aid in the building of public roads, and it further tends to show that the cities are not antagonistic to being taxed for this great public need. Now with the addition of a federal appropriation, you have a tripartite that will solve the problem, and will place the country road upon a plan commensurate without other internal improvements."

"I wish at this time to refer briefly to one argument that I hear advanced by some farmers in opposition to good roads, and that is the seeming conflict of interest between them and the owners of motor vehicles, which has in some localities been justifiable, caused by the outrageous and hostile legislation. This attitude of the farmers toward the automobile has been to a large extent justifiable, caused by the outrageous conduct of drivers of these vehicles; but poor roads will not cure the evil."

Highway Commission Valuable.
"It is the general belief that the creation of a National Highway Commission, with power to organize an efficient corps of trained road engineers, who in co-operation with the state and local highway authorities, would supervise the disbursements of the federal grants, would be a satisfactory solution of the problem."

"National aid will not as some have suggested, lessen the interest of the states, counties, and townships in road improvement. On the contrary, the roads constructed with federal assistance will serve to stimulate everywhere the desire for better roads, and will be the means of ultimately giving the entire country a uniform system of scientifically constructed public highways."

SLY RAPS AT LOCAL MEN OF PROMINENCE

Parody on Popular Song Makes a Dig Hit at the Performance Given Last Night.

"Sullivan, That's My Name," the song that R. J. Landers sang between acts last night, especially the variations that permitted the introduction of the names of Chief Appleby, Victor P. Richardson and J. J. Dulin, proved to be the hit of the evening at the performance of the melodrama, "Raided Lives," presented by the Franklin Stock Company at the Myers Theatre last night. The play itself was presented in a capable and pleasing manner, and that the company has firmly established itself in the good graces of the local playgoers, is evidenced by the fact that, notwithstanding the bad weather, the attendance at each performance has been steadily increasing.

Tonight's program consisted of a melodrama entitled "Human Spiders" will be the attraction. With its abundance of heart interest and its insight into the customs of a strangely fascinating people, this should prove one of the best plays of the company's repertoire. It is announced that during the second act of tonight's performance Miss Agnott will wear a genuine Parisian slouch gown.

Arrangements for the wedding which is scheduled to take place on the stage at the close of the performance of "The Queen of the Highway" Saturday night, are well under way. Six entries for the amateur contest tomorrow night have been received and the contest promises to be amusing.

It is also announced that six hundred of Illinois, the gold of good luck, will be given to the holders of the lucky tickets at the matinee on Saturday afternoon.

PROFESSOR VLYMAN RETURNS TO HIS DUTIES ON MONDAY

High School Teacher Will Take Up His Work Again After a Long Vacation.

Superintendent H. C. Inell has received word from Professor William Vlyman from Washington stating that he will arrive here Saturday night in order to resume his duties teaching on Monday. The professor has quite recovered from the severe attack of illness with which he was taken and which threatened his life for a time. The postal which he sent was mailed from Washington, where he was visiting at his Alma Mater, Georgetown university, on the 11th. It is quite probable that the professor was present at the inauguration ceremonies and in that case he will be called on to tell about it before the school. Prof. Vlyman has been in the city for some time and has been at one of the opening exercises on the city of Washington, which was interesting and well-received by the students on account of the humor which was introduced in his story.

LAWRENCE SINGERS COMING HERE SOON

College Glee Club Will Give Concert Here at Methodist Church March 23.

Without an exception, the state press speaks in very flattering terms of the work of the Lawrence Glee club which is to give a concert here at the Methodist church, Tuesday evening, March 23. Many pronounce the club to be the best singing organization in the state, or even in the west. The club, which numbers thirty members, among whom is Stewart Richards of this city, is under the direction of Prof. William Harper, who is also well known as a baritone soloist. Besides his ability as a singer, Prof. Harper is a director of great ability, and with excellent material to work with, has turned out a club which excels any organization Lawrence has ever turned out, and compares favorably with any in the country.

In addition to the chorus work of the club and the solos by Prof. Harper, there is also a comedy sketch by the members of the club, assisted by Prof. J. S. Gurne, who takes the part of "Uncle Sam" in the burlesque on scenes from college life. The sketch has proved to be a hit wherever presented. Prof. Harper also gives some exceedingly funny impersonations and readings.

ROOSEVELT AN OUTLOOK EDITOR

Starts to Work on the Outlook Staff.

HE HAS A STRENUOUS TRIP

Gets Taste of New Life As He Is Trampled, Elbowed and Packed Like Sardines in New York Street Car.

New York, Mar. 11.—Theodore Roosevelt yesterday began work as an editor of the Outlook. To a squad of reporters who visited him in his office he declared: "I am a private citizen of the United States. I am not a politician."

The former president was dictating to three stenographers at the same time, writing a letter and talking to one of his fellow editors, when he paused to greet the reporters. He shook the reporters by the hand, all around, smiling enthusiastically and then announced, with a brief Maxim volley of words, that for a whole flock of camels to pass through the eye of an institutional needle would be practical compared to the task of interviewing him on any subject.

"I am a very, very busy man," he wound up, "and I can only repeat again that I cannot be interviewed."

Thereat he bowed the reporters out and resumed his new editorial duties.

Jostled on Ferryboat.

Mr. Roosevelt had more than an strenuous trip from Oyster Bay to his manhattan. He arrived there via Douglas Robinson's home, where he was met with a taxicab by Dr. Lyman Abbott. It was in getting to his brother-in-law's home, however, that he tasted some of the sweets of private citizenship, to-wit:

Was jostled endwise on a jammed, for-bound ferryboat.

Was elbowed, mildly cursed and trampled, as to toes, in getting off the ferryboat.

Joined a center rush for a cross-town trolley car and was spun twice.

Finally broke his way into the car.

Experienced the simple state of a compressed sardine in car.

Did a short tour of car hanging, rubbing elbows with malefactors of great wealth and honest artisans.

Arrived safely at the Robinson mansion, declaring that he had had a bully time, etc.

Escort of Young Woman.

In the midst of these adventures the former chief executive of the nation was slightly hampered from solving individual traffic problems in his usual vigorous manner by having to act as escort for a charming young woman, Miss Cornelia Langdon, a friend of Miss Ethel Roosevelt.

Still he seemed to enjoy the experience and his smile was as broad and bland as ever when he draped himself on a strap and hung there until the car reached Madison avenue.

Miss Roosevelt remained at his brother-in-law's home only long enough to shake hands all around and have a good laugh over his trip to the city.

Mombasa Prepares Welcome.

Mombasa, British East Africa, Mar. 11.—Mombasa is preparing already to welcome Theodore Roosevelt when he lands here the latter part of next month on his much-heralded African trip, and the coming of the former president of the United States has given a decided impetus to the interest in the present hunting season.

The governor of the protectorate, Lord Col. Sir James Hayes Sadler, is getting up a program of welcome and entertainment for the distinguished visitor, but in spite of these arrangements the greeting to Mr. Roosevelt will be more to the great sportsman, whose fame is well known to local hunters, than to the former president.

East African sportsmen were highly gratified to learn that Mr. Roosevelt had refused the offer of the authorities to grant him a special hunting license to gain to an unlimited extent instead of confining himself to the two elephants, two rhinoceros, to hippopotami, etc., of the regular license. Lions and leopards are classed as vermin, and consequently no license to kill them is required.

Four families of giraffes have been seen at Mombasa, 200 miles inland from here on the line of the Uganda railroad, and elephants have been seen at Elburgon, 475 miles inland on the railroad, and along the Sabaki river, not far to the north of Mombasa.

Everything points to a successful stay in British East Africa and Uganda for Mr. Roosevelt; the natives are peaceful, game is plentiful and the people of Mombasa are waiting eagerly to extend him a welcome.

Wealthy Wisconsin Man to Wed.

Konosh, Wis., Mar. 11.—Edward Theodore Nowell, the wealthiest young man of Konosh and one of the heirs to the vast fortune of the late Mrs. Fred B. Nowell, his mother, and the late Mrs. Edward Nowell, his grandmother, is to marry, his engagement to Miss Adra Marshall of Jersey City, N. J., being announced yesterday. Young Nowell has a fortune in his own right of nearly $3,000,000.

Former Indiana Editor Dead.

Bloomington, Ind., Mar. 11.—J. K. Spier died yesterday, aged 78. He was for many years interested in the Indianapolis Sentinel and later publisher of the Indiana Sun. During Cleveland's first administration he was timber inspector for Wisconsin.

United States' Barley Production.

The United States ranks third in the production of barley.

DEMOCRATS TO FIGHT CANNON'S HOUSE RULES

Fear Speaker Will Fill Minority Committee Places Without Consulting Their Leader.

Washington, Mar. 11.—The policy of Speaker Cannon in selecting the committees of the next house is causing much speculation among Democrats and the insurgents.

The Democrats are apprehensive that the speaker will assume the right to fill the minority as well as the majority places on the committees. Several Democrats have appointed to the speaker directly for appointment on certain committees.

When John Sharp Williams was minority leader, Speaker Cannon referred all such applications to the minority leader. He has taken no such action this time. Minority Leader Clark's friends say he can interpret this course but one way. There have been no conferences between the minority leader and the speaker, and it is understood none is scheduled. The Democrats will make political capital out of the failure to recognize the minority leader. They will argue that this is another illustration of the despotic power of the speaker.

Another possibility that is worrying both the Democrats and the insurgents is that Speaker Cannon may classify the insurgents as minority members of the house and make up committees on that basis. That would reduce the Democratic representation on the committees and might prove embarrassing to the "insurgents" in the future.

Minority Leader Clark had a conference with Representative Nelson and Gardner of the insurgents. All claimed afterwards that the fight on the rules is not to be abandoned, and it was denied that the Democrats and insurgents have entered into an agreement as to voting any specific rule.

According to present plans, the Democratic caucus to be held next Monday before the house convenes will adopt a resolution in favor of carrying out the pledge of the Denver platform to reduce the power of the speaker. It is understood that the members will not be pledged to any specific amendment, however.

As an evidence of their desire not to interfere with the tariff, the insurgent leaders announced that they were willing for the speaker to appoint the committee on ways and means, the other committees to be selected by a committee on rules and committees.

ASSASSINATION COST $42,517.

Government Issues Statement Concerning Shooting of McKinley.

Washington, Mar. 11.—After carefully guarding for more than seven years the facts as to the government's expenditure incident to the last ill-fated assassin, the government yesterday issued a statement covering all of the items of expenditure under the appropriation of $45,000 for this purpose, made by congress on July 1, 1902. Some of the items follow:

Dr. M. D. Mann, $10,000; Dr. H. Myntor, $6,000; Dr. C. McBurney, $5,000; Dr. Roswell Park, $5,000; Dr. C. G. Stockton, $1,500; Dr. E. G. Janaway, $1,500; Dr. H. C. Matzinger, $750; Dr. W. W. Johnston, $1,000; Dr. E. C. Mann, $200 each. Undertakers—Druggard & Koch, $2,104.15; and McGraw & Arnold, $223. Western Union Telegraph Company, $1,503.41; Postal Telegraph Cable Company, $440.27.

TROOPS TO PREVENT LYNCHING.

Iowa Governor Says Negro Slayer of Girl Will Be Protected.

Des Moines, Ia., Mar. 11.—"John Jensen, murderer of Clara Rosen, must be arranged during the daytime at Ottumwa. The law must take its course and all the little violence" will be furnished to prevent violence," said Gov. J. F. Carroll last night. "The governor has notified Sheriff Jackson over the telephone."

"I intend to protect the good name of Iowa and of the people of Ottumwa," said Gov. Carroll, "and I will not have it said that a prisoner has to be arraigned by stealth, under cover of darkness, to secure a fair trial."

"If Jensen is to be hanged by a mob, in the legal way and not by a mob. The whole military power of the state will be at the disposal of the Ottumwa officers if they need it to insure fair play."

Judge Charged with Fraud.

Toledo, O., Mar. 11.—As a result of the probing into the affairs of the defunct Ohio German Insurance Company the Lucas county grand jury returned five indictments against Judge Michael Donnelly, president of the company. Two of the indictments charge perjury, two embezzlement and one embezzlement and obtaining money by false pretenses.

Aims at Japanese Doctors.

Honolulu, Mar. 11.—A bill introduced yesterday in the assembly of the territorial legislature, "The measure requires Japanese doctors to pass an examination given by the territorial medical examiners in the English language. The Hawaiian Medical society is back of the bill."

Ethel Barrymore to Wed.

Boston, Mar. 11.—Official announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Ethel Barrymore, the actress, to Russell Griswold Colt, son of Col. Samuel P. Colt of Bristol, R. I., president of the United States Rubber Company. The marriage will take place at an early date.

Mince Pie Under Dan.

Even as late as the earlier years of the eighteenth century mince pie as an adjunct of the Christmas feast was forbidden to the English clergyman.

IOWANS DINE IN NEW YORK.

Dolliver Pays Tributes to Roosevelt and Allison at Banquet.

New York, Mar. 11.—Three hundred Iowans and daughters of Iowa assembled last night at the Hotel Astor for the annual dinner of the Iowa Society of New York. William Loeb, the newly-installed collector of the port of New York, was the guest of honor, and with him at the speakers' table sat Senator Jonathan P. Dolliver of Iowa, Victor Rosewater, proprietor of the Omaha Bee; Leslie M. Shaw and James S. Clarkson, president of the society.

Senator Dolliver aroused the diners to cheers by a warm eulogy of former President Roosevelt, whom he characterized as the champion not of the strong and powerful but of the weak and lowly. The senator also praised his old associate in the senate, the late Senator W. B. Allison.

"There was only one possibly greater representative of the people," said Senator Dolliver, speaking of his former colleague, "and that only because his length of service gave him longer opportunity: William B. Allison."

DR. WILEY WARNS THE GIRLS.

Says Soft Drinks Contain Caffeine and Poison.

Washington, Mar. 11.—The dangers of the "soft drink habit" and the innocence with which girls become addicted to it were emphasized last night by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the government's pure food expert, in a lecture before 100 girl students of the Holy Cross academy.

"If you only knew what I know about what these soft drinks contain you would abstain from them," he said. "It will surprise you to know that most of them contain more caffeine than coffee and a drug which is more deadly. So beware of the soft drink. It is more harmful than coffee, and I advise all young people against the use of this stimulant. Perhaps you would be interested to know that I have collected more than one hundred samples of soft drinks sold at soda fountains and each contains caffeine and many of them a deadly drug."

SIR THOMAS LIPTON'S LATEST CRAZE.

London, Eng.—Sir Thomas Lipton of international yacht fame, has now a new hobby, the motor boat. He has named his boat, which is of 50 horse power, "The Britannia," and is laying his plans for carrying out the American cup in the motor boat races. "Whether he has become discouraged or not is not stated, but he is quite as enthusiastic over his new venture as he was over his American challengers, the "Shamrock."

PRESENT STATUS OF THE TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT IN THE UNITED STATES

Forty-three million people under absolute prohibition. Eight states in which the sale of liquor is absolutely prohibited. Thirty states in which the sale of liquor is carefully restricted by legislation. Only 10 states and territories without prohibition.

Three hundred prohibition cities in the United States having a population of over 5,000 each. Nearly two-thirds of the entire United States under some form of prohibition. Such is the present status of the temperance movement in the United States. These facts are startling to many who have not been in touch with the prohibition movement during the last five years, for nearly all of this transformation has taken place during that time. Five years ago only two states, Maine and Kansas, were under state-wide prohibition. Since 1904 North Dakota, Georgia, Oklahoma, Alabama, Mississippi and North Carolina have been added to the list of dry states. During this period 20,000,000 people have been added to the territory which has outlawed the saloon. This includes many cities, hundreds of new prohibition cities, and thousands of new prohibition towns and villages in all parts of the country. Five years ago 17,000,000 people in the fourth were under prohibition. Today the prohibition ranks have been swelled to 25,000,000 people in the same district.

This transformation has not been brought about by the prohibition party, although it has been of much assistance to the movement, but rather it has been brought about by the Anti-Saloon League and its scientific methods of attack on the liquor traffic.

The Anti-Saloon League has so conducted its movement that during the recent campaign for the first time in many years the liquor traffic has been the center of the stage as a state issue. Public men were made and unmade in many states over this very problem of the liquor traffic.

So successful have the workers been that the rural districts and many of the city precincts over the entire country have gone dry. Their method of campaign is one of simplicity, but of effectiveness. Take for instance the campaign in a city. The first move is to secure prohibition in the rural districts surrounding the city. Then the outlying precincts of the city are attacked and the residence districts almost invariably fall in line with the rural districts. As soon as the movement has gained sufficient momentum the business districts of the city are attacked and very frequently with the most gratifying success to the campaign managers.

TRADE CONDITIONS

REMAIN UNCHANGED

Most of the Firms Have Finished
Their Season's Work While Sales
Show No Improvement.

Except for a few minor transactions, no sales of any importance are reported by Janesville, Wis., dealers for the past week. The general situation and prospects remain practically unchanged, except that several of the dealers have finished sizing and packing for the season while others have just begun to take care of their customers. The three or four concerns who have been busy for some time and who have handled the major share of the Janesville shipments, still continue in the lead.

Several of the dealers, who have been backward in starting their packing, have begun work. George Locic or has put about twenty-five hands to work on the Friedman warehouse, Joseph Grundy has also started sizing and packing. A. S. Jones started to take care of his season's purchase early this week. In most cases, the amount of goods packed is small, the dealers not caring to take any chances on being left with any great amount of goods on hand with the prospects for selling as uncertain as they are at the present time, and the last not above the average. Among those who finished their packing are: Pom-ber Bros., who laid off their hands Tuesday, B. H. Hedges, at present in New York, who finished the latter part of last week, and John Southman who brought his season's work to a close Monday.

F. S. Haines is still handling large shipments. He recently opened his warehouse at Madison, taking on about forty hands, in addition to the already large force employed. He can now increase to the season until about the first of July. The Green Tobacco Company have steadily added to their force until at present they have nearly 120 men and twenty-five floor men. The output has also increased in proportion to the increase in the number of employees. The company received about five car loads of bundles last week. McGinnis and Birkenmeier are still buying heavily but only a small part of the stock comes to their Janesville warehouse, most of it being shipped directly from the points of loading, without stopping at packing. It is not yet certain when the company will begin operations in their local warehouse. Sanford Sov-erhill still has his regular force at work but expects to finish within three weeks. A. E. McGee, Fisher and Fisher and G. H. Merrill all report a quiet trade. Mr. Fisher states that most shipments he has made during the past week have gone east.

COMMISSIONERS TO

APPRAISE DAMAGES

Six of Them Have Been Appointed by Judge Grimm in Interurban Condemnation Proceedings.

Commissioners who are to make the appraisal of property affected by the condemnation proceedings brought by the Rockford & Interurban Co.
in the loop district and by John Pawright and forty-one other owners of property fronting on the main line, were appointed by Judge Grimm last evening.

In the action of the corporation against Floyd D. Murdoch, W. H. H.
Macdon, P. A. Ryckman, A. R.
Henson, et al., the order declares that the transportation company is entitled to a right-of-way on Franklin and Wall streets, and names Henry Tall of Janesville, Edward Smith of Beloit, and Henry Johnson of Edgemoor
as the commissioners, which is to appraise the damage done to the property in question. This commission is directed to hold its first meeting at the court house on March 20 at 2
p. m.

In the Plowright case against the company, Fred L. Clemens and
G. W. Yahn of this city and E. G.
Smith of Deloit are named as commissioners and they are directed to hold their first meeting at the court house on March 20 at 2 p. m.

department has also been placed being 77-4 rings for both lines. Business office call, on both lines, is 77-2

MODERN WAY OF LIVING

Has a Tendency to Weaken the Strongest.

One hundred years ago there was less kidney trouble than there is today.

The worry, hurry, and overwork of modern living doubles the work of the kidneys, wears and weakens the mind unable to properly do their duty of filtering the poisons from the blood. As a result the whole system runs down.

Food the slightest symptom of kidney trouble—the first backache, the first irregularity of the urine. It may be the forerunner of dangerous disease. You can cure yourself quickly with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Read the experience of a Janesville citizen.

Chas. W. Allen, living in Janesville, Wis., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and they are all right. I can endorse them as a good kidney and backache remedy and one that can be relied upon. I suffered from these troubles for a long time, and although I used different preparations
I received no relief. Finally I procured Doan's Kidney Pills from the People's Drug Co. and began their use. In a few days the trouble left me and has never returned. I can certainly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlburn Co., Buffalo,

States.

LONG PRISON TERMS

FOR YOUNG BANDITS

Judge Grimm Meted Out a Sentence of Ten Years to Fred Harten—Kreuger Given Five Years.

Fred Harten, age 23, and Bert Kreuger, age 20, the two young Evanston desperadoes who entered George Chase's home in Broadhead on the night of Feb. 27 and went through his home in search of valuables after he had been killed by a murderous assault with a piece of carriage spring in the hands of Harten, were brought here from Monroe yesterday to attend an appeal session of the Green county circuit court. Harten was securely handcuffed and his elbows were tied behind him with a heavy strap.
Kreuger was bound to Harten with one set of manacles and to Deputy Sheriff Sewell with another. Sheriff
H. L. Ball, with head still bandaged as the result of injuries sustained in the struggle which preceded Harten's recent escape from the jail. District Attorney W. H. McGrath, and Clerk of the Court Thomas Luchinger made up the balance of the escort.

Both of the accused were arraigned on their own petitions and entered pleas of guilty to charges of burglary in the night time. The complaint against Harten also charged him with being armed with a deadly weapon.
That he was sorry for his acts but that he had committed a serious crime with his eyes open and was admitted by the latter, who also declared that his first arrest was for stealing a revolver in the east. His record of crime in this vicinity was commenced three months ago when he began breaking into box-cars and stealing their contents. From the admissions of the pair and the District Attorney's statements it appeared that Kreuger, a guileless looking and simple-minded county youth who had recently worked on a farm near Brooklyn, had merely been Harten's tool.

Judge Grimm sentenced Harten to ten years' imprisonment in the penitentiary at Waupun. His perfect conduct he can reduce this period to six years and three months. Kreuger was committed for five years, which means three years and nine months for the model prisoner. When the time comes for their release, officers will probably be on hand with warrants sworn out by the C. & N. W. Ry. Co. for robbing box-cars. The pair were placed behind the bars here last night and taken to Waupun this morning.

WRITES OF THE WORK

IN BIG LUMBER CAMP

H. H. McKinney Tells of the Logging Operations in Northeastern Pennsylvania.

H. H. McKinney, writing from Sholen Falls, Pennsylvania, gives an interesting description of how they handle the logging operations in that section of the country. Just a few hours' ride from New York City, Mr.
McKinney is in the midst of a lumber country. He writes as follows:

This is a country of rocks and mountains, some small farms cleared of timber and undergrowth, but not of rocks. They would be pretty near the center of the earth if they went down far enough to get rid of the rocks.

The fences about all the small cleared patches are built of stone, which is picked off the land, and mounds of the same material dot the most of the fields in numerous places.
How they can ever plow is more than I can see, but like other things they do here, they manage it some way.

The poorest farm in Rock county would be a paradise down in this neck of the woods.

A few days ago I struck a level place of cleared ground along the Sholen river and after looking over the sides of the rocky bluffs everyday for two or three weeks it was a great relief to find level ground, and I really think it made me homesick.
The Pennsylvania Coal company have about twenty thousand acres of timber along the Sholen river, mostly pitch pine, which resembles the southern pitch pine or the Norway pine, only that it has more pitch in it than the Norway. It is all over the sides of the mountains and if you had not seen the work done, you would wonder how they ever expected to get the logs to the river. They do it just the same and the horses get along the sides of the mountains when it gives a man a tight game to hang on. You want good, long cables in your shoes all the time, and it does not take long for the rocks to wear them down.

The three camps have put in about eight million feet of lumber this winter, and that is some logging for this country. One set of camps are located at Sholen, this set at Sholen Falls, ten miles out, and the third camp is located four miles above us. They have cleared out the Sholen river, a rough mountain stream, built four dams, one of which backs up the water for seven miles and makes a low pond that will hold twenty million feet, and otherwise improved it so they can drive the logs to the mill at Sholen.

All they are waiting for now is for the ice to get out of the pond to start the logs down the river. They have a new saw mill, which, while not as large as a great many in Wisconsin, is up-to-date in every way and will cut about 50,000 feet a day, ten hours run. Mr. E. H. Gilkey, formerly of Oconto, is the general superintendent and the camp foremen are all Oconto men that worked for Pendleton & Gilkey when I was with them. There are a number of Oconto men here so I feel very much at home.

We have had a very mild winter, very little snow, and only one or two days since I came, but plenty of rain.
More snow and good cold weather would help the logging very much.

I have been in the woods every day
from daylight until dark and feel fine, but look pretty tough. Great place to get rid of old clothes.

H. H. MCKINNEY.

NOTED AUTOMOBILIST IS TO ## RUN A BUICK THIS YEAR

Lewis Strang Winner of Many Road Races to Handle Wheel of Famous Car.

Lewis Strang, winner of the Savannah, Charlotte and Lowell road races, former holder of the mile circular track record of 51.35 and regarded as one of the greatest drivers of the world, has signed with the Buick Motor Company and will be at the important events on track, road and hill.
Strang will compete in stock events with the speedy Buicks and will also have two special racing cars for free for all events and record trials.

The defection of Strang from the ranks of the drivers of high-priced foreign cars with whom he has always been identified was not caused by the lure of gold. Strang has long felt that "American" cars, given the skillful handling of the foreign machines received, are faster than those of Europe and when he was defeated in his last in the New Orleans Mardi Gras 100-mile race by the Buick, he says he saw "the handwriting on the wall." Strang is a crafty driver, cautious and conservative, and considered the most skillful "hans" of engines and tires in the country.

TO THE VOTERS OF

THE SECOND WARD

I wish to announce that I am a candidate for re-nomination for alderman on the democratic ticket at the primaries to be held March 23, 1930.
In seeking the re-nomination I desire to state that I have no "axe to grind" and that my record for the past two years in the Common Council will show that I have been opposed to extravagance in city affairs, and have always looked out for the interests of taxpayers. I am no representative of the gambling and saloon clique that has been holding secret meetings for the purpose of dominating city politics, by every hook or crook. My opposition to this clique should be enough to warrant the support of every law-abiding citizen of the ward.

When the next congress convenes

Senator Jones enters the senate after serving his state in the house, and is

Mr. Korbly was born and educated "Lady Darlington," believe me, I have no desire except honestly to serve you. The actual truth is, I have consented to retain what is a purely nominal command of this vessel, with no other purpose except that such outward authority yields me some opportunity to assist and protect you. Otherwise I would spurn the whole affair and defy these outlaws to do their worst. It was a deplorable accident that brought me here and placed me in this situation. Practically I am as much a prisoner on board as yourself. Later, if the opportunity ever be given, I shall relate you my story, and then perhaps you will appreciate how perfectly helpless I am to overrule the decision of this vessel's crew. They are mad with the lust of gold, crazed by the prospect of suddenly achieving vast wealth through a single hold stroke. Would the tears of a woman influence them now? would the impotent threat of a single, helpless man? They are armed, organized, determined, desperate.

"Treasure!" She gasped, "Where do you propose going in search?"

"The only thing I can do is apparently to yield to them, trusting this to persuade them into some measure of mercy; and the only thing you can do is to patiently abide my efforts to release you from such companionship. I mean to do my best, even to the sacrifice of my life. The very thought of bearing you with us into the jaws and dangers of that storm-tossed ocean in misery to me, God knows I would do anything possible to spare you such a fate. But I wish you to understand, realize fully, how difficult my own position is. I do not bid you hope; only pray, and, above all, retain your courage. I promise nothing, because I dare venture no pledge. But I beseech you not to break down, not to exhibit upon fear. In any event our first effort should be to awaken confidence in the minds of our captors, and arrive at a frank understanding between ourselves. Lady Darlington, will you be guided in this by my judgment?"

"Oh, I wish to believe," she sobbed, "only half aloud, "I need some one, some one in whom I feel confidence, in whom I may repose faith. I beg of you not to consider me weak, a nervous creature, but this situation is intolerable. I will endeavor to do what you ask. I will strive to be brave, helpful, appreciative. I think you are what you say. See, I give you my hand in promise."

I clasped it instantly within both my own, bending low above the white fingers, my lips set in firm resolve. I retained it still when I lifted my head, and my glances met.

"What is it you first desire of me?" "Breakfast has been prepared, and is now awaiting us in the cabin," I answered, knowing well that some form of action must strengthen her more quickly than any further talk, "and I wish you to join us at the table exactly as though this was an ordinary voyage."

"I know the food will choke me, Does Coloste sit with us?"

"I believe you would prefer having her in the circumstances. You would not feel quite so much alone."

"I should like it; it was most thoughtful upon your part. Shall I shall we be alone at table?"

"With the exception of the first officer, who is really the leader on board."

It was evident plainly enough that she shrank from the ordeal, the delicate lines hardening about the mouth, the gray eyes eloquent of disaffection. A moment she hesitated, her form away as though buffeted by a storm; then she slowly bent her head.

"I am at your service, Mr. Stephens." In the main cabin we discovered the table already set and waiting, appearing bright and cheery with brave display of snowy cloth and glittering silver, the awning shelf above adorned by bottles and gleaming glass.

"Call Mr. Tuttle, Dada," I ordered, quietly. "Then hurry back and serve."

CHAPTER XII.

In Which I Endeavor to Assert Authority.

I was on deck again at noon, and shot the sun, returning below to work out our position. The Red Queen still held closely to her course, almost directly west, and, reeking my helplessness, I forbore asking useless questions. Indeed, I was secretly pained that Tuttle still held to that point of the compass, for we were now in the direct path of Australian commerce, and hence much more likely to raise a sail at any moment than if we veered farther to the southward. If any such vessel appeared I had determined to pit my strength against the crew, even to the point of physical danger.

At one o'clock Dada called the women, and soon the four of us were seated at table again. My lady's manner weighed upon my spirits, which had been none of the lightest before her appearance. I felt profoundly that the faint influence my previous words had inspired within her mind had already evaporated; that she now held me as at one with the remainder of the yacht's crew. I arose as they retired from the table, but received no reward of recognition from her averted eyes. Feeling deserted, almost humiliated, I smoked my pipe alone on deck under the lee of the cabin. But it was perfectly useless loitering there, with no duties to perform, and the sea all about bare to the far horizon. Besides, some sailor instinct told me a storm was brewing yonder to the northward which might keep me upon the bridge all night, so, in preparation for such a possibility, I went below and lay down in my bunk. I was a long time getting asleep, finally dropping off only to be aroused by the rattling of dishes when Dada arranged the table for the last meal of the day.

De Nova was pacing the bridge and emerged from the companion. I could not see the seaman who hailed, the mist held so thick, and his words seemed like a weak echo.

"Hall, almost directly ahead, sir."

"Whereaway?" asked De Nova, peering anxiously forward. "I can see nothing. Fo'c'st' zero—you see so ship?"

"Nothin' in sight from here, sir."

The mate stared up into the vapor overhead.

"Was it you see it, you fellow on 'e foreyard?"

The odd echo of a voice came back out of the sky.

"I only caught her through a hole in the fog, sir, one point off the weather-bow."

With a swift bound I was up the steps to the bridge and beside the second officer, recklessly determined to assume command. Before he clearly realized my presence I jangled the bells in the engine room.

"Hold her steady as she is," I said sternly to the fellow grasping the wheel.

De Nova wheeled and faced me, his black eyes full of sudden anger.

"What do hell you mean?" he exclaimed, so surprised he stammered.

"I clasped it instantly within both my own, bending low above the white fingers, my lips set in firm resolve. I retained it still when I lifted my head, and my glances met."

"What is it you first desire of me?" "Breakfast has been prepared, and is now awaiting us in the cabin," I answered, knowing well that some form of action must strengthen her more quickly than any further talk, "and I wish you to join us at the table exactly as though this was an ordinary voyage."

"I believe you would prefer having her in the circumstances. You would not feel quite so much alone."

"Call Mr. Tuttle, Dada," I ordered, quietly. "Then hurry back and serve."

"And I am commanding the yacht, Mr. De Nova," I retorted quickly, pushing back his hand from the signal, "I propose speaking that vessel yonder, and transshipping our passengers. Port a little, my man—no, port, you fool!—now hold her steady!"

De Nova grasped my arm, his fingers like steel, but I broke away, pressing in between him and the rail.

"Lay your hands on me again," I threatened, sternly, "and I'll floor you to the deck. I'll take that grin off your face, De Nova, if you attempt any interference with me now."

He understood quickly enough what I meant, and evidently had no relish for attacking me alone, for with one swift, searching glance into the fog, he leaped down the steps and ran hastily aft. I knew he was seeking the backing of Tuttle, and armed myself with a belaying pin, peering eagerly meanwhile for the nearby rail, and cursing the fellow at the wheel for not holding her up to the point directed.

They came up together, two steps at a time, Tuttle in his shirt sleeves, and as they attained the bridge, Bill Anderson swung himself out of the hatch and started after them. I backed away, the ugly iron pin grasped in my hand.

"You'd better keep back," I warned, threateningly. "I'm ready to brain the first man who attempts to touch me."

Tuttle stopped, his jaw working savagely, his eyes on mine.

ARRESTED FOR BIG FORGERY.

Detectives Capture East St. Louis Man After Seven-Year Chase.

Alton, Ill., Mar. 11.—After a chase of seven years, detectives yesterday arrested John Horton, on the charge of forgery, at the home of his wife here. He is charged with obtaining from $75,000 to $100,000 from the National Stock Yards National bank of East St. Louis, Ill., by means of forged bills of lading.

Horton and his brother Roy were live stock brokers. They fled to Guatemala, and later to Honduras, where they had obtained a concession and operated a distillery. This business is said to have been a failure. Because they could not be extradited from Honduras detectives awaited their coming to this country.

Horton says he and his brother are victims of forged bills of lading which were obtained from an alleged stock raiser in good faith.

WEATHER CHIEF IS ANGRY.

Replies to the Critics of the Inauguration-Day Prediction.

Washington, Mar. 11.—"Hysterical abuse" is the stormy English which Willis L. Moore, chief of the United States weather bureau, hurled at the newspaper critics, who have faulted with the weather bureau for predicting "fair weather for inauguration day," when the day turned out to be one of the worst imaginable, due to what the forecaster later termed "a harebrained."

Mr. Moore declares that "the same forecast would be made today if similar conditions existed."

In upholding the work of the bureau, Mr. Moore says that "in the past about one prediction out of ten failed to be verified and it may be expected that the same ratio will be maintained until meteorology can be made, what it is not now, an exact science."

Buffalo, N. Y., Mar. 11.—The beautiful home of Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic national committee, was practically destroyed by fire last night. The fire started in the servants' quarters on the third floor. The roof fell in a few minutes after the fire was discovered. The second floor was also burned out as was Mr. Mack's fine library. The loss is about $50,000.

Danderine

GROWS HAIR and we can PROVE IT!

A lady from Minnesota writes: "As a result of using Danderine, my hair is close to five feet in length!"

Beautiful Hair at Small Cost

HAIR troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment; when this occurs the scalp has simply lost all its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions).

The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Knowledge of Danderine has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is similar to the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp.

It penetrates the pores quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities.

One 25-cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself.
